

Comprehension Test-2

Q.1

Ans:- There is no such difference between human beings' fear of death and children's fear of 'darkness'. Both are afraid from the stories they heard about these.

Q.2

Ans:- 'Religious and sacred' view says that human beings are afraid from death if they take it as a nemesis of sins and a way to enter into another world.

Q.3

Ans:- Monks described the painful experiences in which they undergone the body tortures on the name of self-purification.

Elaborate those a bit.

Q.4

Ans:- Seneca's views says that when human beings see a man dying, his last situations and the reactions of surrounding people make death horrible.

Q.5

Ans:- Stories of agonies of dying people, religious and sacred view of death, circumstances around dying person, crying people on death of their relatives, and ritual performances makes death more horrible than it would be.