

Question 7

①

③

Translation:

In this era of selfishness, everyone looks for his or her own benefit. No one cares for one another. Nobody's heart is filled with true love and purity.

Ethical morals are declining. Not only do we take benefit of humans but also of our country.

Have we ever thought that once in this country was love and kindness but now it is surrounded by terrorism. Still, nothing is lost. If we, Pakistanis, love truly and reflect upon ourselves, we can overcome our problems.

We should end sectarianism, and discrimination between poor and rich, and the lesser and the superior.

We need to better our future by being united. Pray that every Person of this nation gets united and worried about the country because if Pakistan lives, we live.

Question no: 2

Title : Unity of Identity for Revolution.

Precis :

Anatol Lieven, in his book Pakistan A Hard Country, states the scenario that would result in the destruction of the unity. To achieve this there needs to be a clash between the commanders and the soldiers. If the soldiers feel that are put in a position where they feel that their commanders commands forbade them to defend their country, they will revolt. Then this revolution will result in the successful emission of invasion from the country. He further states that the Pakistanis donot share a single identity. These exist an identity<sup>it</sup> clash. Nation is divided either on the basis of provinces, castes, sects within religion etc. Therefore unity behind revolution is impossible.
