Q:2

Title: Lack of Solidarity: Threat for Sovereignty

Anatol Lieven in his book tells the major reason behind the decline of unity and discipline is the huge external pressure faced by the army soldiers. They would be in a perplexed situation where their responsibility and religion confront each other. This could happen if army become treacherous. The external interference of Washington creates issues in Pakistani army. The USA provoke soldiers for mutiny. The lack of solidarity among soldiers and civilians can result into a civil war. In election campaigns regional identity prevails. People choose representatives from their own province. There is a whirlpool of identity, although all are Pakistani. The Islamists and some soldiers hold single identity. Ali Hassan told Anatol Lieven about the results of preaching a revolution. People of Pakistan do not accept revolution because they are divided into regional identities. Nothing can unite them not even a revolution.
