Paragraph 1 : Causes of unemployment in Pakistan

Topic Sentence

One of the main causes of unemployment in Pakistan is political instability.

Reason

There is no incentive for creating employment opportunities when policymakers are distracted by one crisis or another.

Expansion

Catering to the genuine needs of public necessitates the fostering of a conducive environment. This is because no foreign investment can take place in a landscape marked by fear and insecurity. Likewise, Pakistan's employment predicament stems from its inability to ensure order and stability.

Evidence

Take, for instance, the recent research conducted on the nexus between political unrest and unemployment. The study maintains that a large chunk of the existing workforce is unable to materialise its desired economic growth and employment prospects. Among other reasons, political instability is the main driver of the phenomenon (Muhammad Abid, Pakistan's Political Distress and the Job Market, 2022).

Concluding Sentence

In this way, political instability deepens Pakistan's unemployment crisis.

Paragraph 2 : Effects of unemployment in Pakistan

Topic Sentence

When political instability is what characterizes a country, a widespread disenchantment ensues, leading to the effect of brain drain.

Reason

Similarly, instability at home is directly linked with the mass exodus of people, who seek to find better employment prospects abroad.

Expansion

The problem is particularly more acute in Pakistan, in which lack of security is reason enough for people to leave the country. As a result, the state is deprived of the educated and talented class capable of attracting investments.

Evidence

For example, a report published in a local newspaper outlines the upward trajectory of brain drain in the country.

The phenomenon accelerated last year, as more than 750,000 educated youth sought employment overseas. The report also maintained that the main reason explaining the matter was political instability (tribune.com.pk, Country's brain drain, December 2022).

Concluding
Sentence

Thus, brain drain is one of the manifestations of unemployment in Pakistan.

Paragraph 3 : Remedies to Solve the problem of unemployment

Topic Sentence

Accentuated by brain drain, the problem of unemployment needs an immediate remedy, which lies in developing a broad-based political consensus.

Reason

Pakistan cannot address its employment grievances unless all stakeholders are on board with a common agenda.

Expansion

Not only would political consensus allow power-wielders to put the house in order but it would also create a favourable environment, which is a prerequisite for job-creation targets.

Evidence

There is enough empirical evidence suggesting that countries that unanimously approve of all human development projects are more likely to create employment opportunities, (Dr Otto, Solutions to unemployment, 2021). The study also considers the solution one reason behind the success of advanced economies.

Concluding
Sentence

Therefore, the key to solving the problem of unemployment in Pakistan is political consensus.
