Q. The ascending potency of hybrid warfare being foisted on the state of Pakistan is adding to the security woes of the country. Elaborate with examples?

Ans:

Hybrid warfare is continuously increasing in Pakistan that is creating security issues in the country. Hybrid warfares are those conflicts which are combined conventional military tactics with non-military strategies. Pakistan is geographically located along with four countries. However, ~~two~~ Afghanistan and India are ascending hybrid warfare as India has planned to isolate the Pakistan it can harm the country politically, economically and strategically. In addition, Pakistan is facing traditional as well as non-traditional threats due to Afghan border issues. These problems collectively keeping the country in a security risk. Hence, it is stated from above passage that due to hybrid warfare, there is further addition of security issues in Pakistan.

1) How hybrid warfare increases the security threat in Pakistan.

Hybrid warfare requires information and planning to weaken the country economically and politically. Pakistan faces these short comings due to foreign conspiracy and its own policies. For example, Indian Prime Minister

Mr. Modi publically said that he will isolate the Pakistan in the world. Israel always support India when India start hybrid war against Pakistan. Therefore, it is noticed that India had kept the Pakistan at security issues.

2: Afghan-Pakistan border issue enhances security problems

Pakistan's border is connected with Afghanistan, which is a Durand line, Afghanistan is not accepting this border line completely, therefore, they violate this border line. Pakistan has caught many non-state actors which are crossing Durand line and entering into the Pakistan. They are ascending security issues, as their aim is to disturb the country economically and politically. They had done various attacks in Pakistan. Recently, when Pakistani Minister of Foreign Affairs Hina Rabbani Khar visited Afghanistan. She faced attack on her at the Pakistan Embassy in Afghanistan. Thus, it provides evidence that Pakistan faces security threats from Afghanistan.

3: Traditional and non-traditional security threats in Pakistan due to war base.

Pakistan faces traditional and non-traditional security threats due to war base, as the ~~can~~ military is fighting with foreign conspiracy in Balochistan. There is various people of BLA, which are getting training from Indian army in Afghanistan. It creates hurdles for Pakistan army to fight against these trained people. Moreover, the country arrange weapons to overcome from this foreign conspiracy. It ~~keeps~~ <sup>weakens</sup> Pakistan as it breaks the Pakistan's Unity which arise the ~~to~~ water issues and these issues further weakens the agriculture. ~~as~~ These short comings creates non-traditional security issues. Therefore, it is persisted that it is the warfare which creates traditional and non-traditional hurdles in the Pakistan.

Conclusively 1. Pakistan is facing security threats due to hybrid warfare and these ~~issues~~ <sup>threats</sup> are increasing day by day. ~~and~~

The country ~~is~~ faces foreign conspiracy, which has started warfare with Pakistan, their aim is to weaken the country and creating further traditional and non-traditional security issues in Pakistan.
