Divided Pakistan: unfit for revolution

Title: ~~The Challenges to Unity in Pakistan: The Role of Soldiers and Regional Identity~~

~~The author in his book said that the discipline and unity of Pakistani soldiers can be destroyed through immense moral and emotional pressure by putting them in a position to choose between religion and commanders obedience.~~

USA were to invade ^{As in case of} part of Pakistan, the army would combat if the command failed to give order to resist this. Because, already, the perceived ^{Try to focus on your ideas presenting original ideas} ~~substance~~ of Pakistan ~~every~~ to Washington has caused a severe problems of morale in armed forces. Islamist upheaval and state collapse would indeed likely to happen. It would lead to civil war, ^{Do not re write exact details} not like Iranian revolution. The regional identity grew further, when PPP got lower vote in Punjab and Punjab ~~and~~ Muslim League ~~secured lower votes in other provinces, during 2008 election~~ ~~hence~~, single identity only exists in Islamist and soldiers. Else, there are different identities within an identity. Ali ^{author} ~~the~~ Hassan, a young lahori said to the ~~the~~ that unlike Iran, it is very difficult to bring revolution in Pakistan as they the people cannot unite behind anything. As there are different identities, nationalities, and religious sects.

Q. 3 Comprehension

Questions:

Q.1.

Answer: The things that made Guderian a talented commander was that he leads his army from the front in Blitzkrieg campaigns. He was the first one who introduced tanks to the army and its use as an operative weapon. He also knew the strategic use of Panzer forces and planned to transport all supporting elements for it.

Guderian was a well explained bold commander, as he did not care about communication with his superior commands. He disobeyed orders. He, even yelled at Hitler's face and refuse to attack Soviet Union capital in winter, as he was aware of the fact that the campaign would not be successful.

Q.2

Answer: The offensive tactics of Guderian

during war was that he was leading his army in Blitzkrieg campaigns. He introduced tanks usage as an operative weapons. Guderian also favoured the strategic use of panzer forces, without worrying about a possible threat to his own unprotected and far-extended flanks.

Q 3.

Answer: Guderian was in disagreement with Hitler that the capital of Soviet Union Moscow should not be attacked in winter as it will be a futile effort to win. Also, the position of the army should be abandoned and transported across Baltic sea. Hitler disagreed with this plan of Guderian. Both were angry with each other with this disagreement.

Q.4.

Answer. The relief from command proved a blessing in disguise as it saved him from becoming involved in war crimes, as it has been the case with many of the German generals. Also the German suffered from huge failure after he relieved from the command.

Q.5.

Answer. The German ^{army} would not have suffered from a collapse in Soviet union. As after Kiev, Guderian refused to attack further in harsh winter season. Hence, the large damage of German military could have been prevented if Guderian plan was accepted by Hitler by not removing him from the command.

Q. 7. Translation

~~Very one is busy to grind his own axe~~
In this age of selfishness, everyone is only looking out for themselves. No one cares about anyone else. There is no true love in anyone's heart, and pure moral values are declining. We not only show selfishness to others, but also towards our country. Have we ever thought together that in this country where there used to be the sounds of love, now there is an atmosphere of terrorism. But it is not too late. If we truly love Pakistan and introspect, we can overcome many of our mistakes. We all are the architects of tomorrow. We must eliminate sectarianism, poverty, and the gap between high and low. We must work together to build the future of this country. Let us pray that every individual of this nation and country steps should starts thinking about this country, because if Pakistan is alive, then we all are alive
