INTRODUCTION:-

As man is a social animal. He is unable to live in isolation. They need others in order to fulfill their needs. If man lives in isolation they then they feel depression, deficiency of goods and unable to fulfill their basic needs. Similarly countries are global being. No one country lives in isolation they should need the other countries in order to fulfill the demands of their countries. So countries depend on each other and the word become global image. ^{wrong word} the globalization the developed countries as well as developing countries both of them benefit but the developed countries takes the major advantage from it while the developing countries still faces some hindrance in it. The developing countries should ^{First form of verb after should} made those policies that are ^{benefitted} for them. It is helpful ^{Inconsistent spelling} for both countries because of making good relations with each other, has more ^{Incoherent sentence} markets, scholarship opportunities and transfer the technology from one country to another. But

The developed countries get more benefits by taking raw material at cheap prices and made relations with developed countries for their own interest. Through the scholarship programs the developed countries get the talented Inconsistent spellings.

Choose between british or american spellings and use one humans from developing countries.

The developed countries should make their policy through which they use their raw material for their own and slow down the process of brain drain and promote their culture through media at international level.
So globalization helps for every country but every country should take policies that are benefit for them.
