Translation:

It has been said that some books have changed the world and these books are chosen by the knowledgeable people or scholars, ~~but~~ however, some books are beneficial and some books are peculiar for the world. A society can get clear cut message from the publications, whether the books are revolutionary or the books are of primitive nature that wants to keep the world as it is.

IF- we keenly observe the publications in Pakistan, we see that these books are spreading religious prejudice and sectarianism and affecting the people's mindset. And we see the prevalence of religious hatred in Pakistan as well.

Q3

Passage

Ans 2

Colonel Claus Schenk von Stauffenberg was military officer. Stauffenberg was the man who tried to assassinate the Hitler in his east Prussian headquarters, the Wolf Lair. However the bomb failed to kill Hitler and consequently, he was shot in the courtyard of the Army's headquarters in Berlin.

Ans 3

The movie, 'Valkyrie' was accurate in highlighting most of facts. However, the film failed to highlight the plight of Germans nor does it give much info about the ~~early~~ Stauffenberg's charismatic character. Moreover, the film also failed to shed light on Stauffenberg's background and philosophical thought. Thus, the film was not upto the mark.

Ans 3

Yes, the writer's opinion regarding justification of killing Hitler by the plot set by Stauffenberg is justified. He was the man who placed a bomb. However, the bomb didn't blow and Hitler survived.

Q.2

The contrast and complementary sentiments evoked in the passage is about Stauffenberg. ~~The~~ The contrasting sentiments are the bravery of Stauffenberg and his failure. Another contrasting sentiment is Stauffenberg's background and his philosophical thoughts. Complementary sentiments are failed coup and his execution. Access to Hitler and resolve. <sup>to kill</sup> He was the protagonist of better Germany and agent of history.

Ans

If Stauffenberg had survived the war he would have killed the Hitler and changed the course of Germany. The reason was that he was against Hitler's plan of Third Reich. Stauffenberg was convinced that Hitler would destroy the world, so he tried to kill him but failed. Moreover, he wanted to show a better Germany to the world.
