We judge people through out our lives. We keep searching for friends but end up meeting enemies on every step. Friends are to be searched. Adversaries are available without any efforts. Then the only question arises in mind that who is even enemy? Every man spent his life with millions of people present around every individual. We can't live alone. Family members, relatives, neighbours, community dwellers, well-wishers and many more continue to be part of our lives. This is unending process of life. Many people are above our understanding but even then we can't ignore them. Most of times, the relation kept going either due to imposition or understanding.
