

English Comprehension Test-2

Time Allowed: 40Minutes

Note:

1. Assignment must be handwritten.
2. Upload it in "Quiz/Assignment" section, otherwise it will not be checked.

Name: Muhammad Faisal Mustafa Batch: RWP-OB-040
LMS_ID 28649

Q. Read the following text carefully and answers the questions below: (20)

Human beings are afraid of death just as children feel afraid of darkness. The fear of darkness of kids increased by the stories of the heard ghosts and thieves. In the same way, the fear of human being is increased by the stories which they heard about the agony of dying man. If a human being regards death as a kind of punishment for his sins he has committed and if he looks upon death as a means of making an entry into another world, he is certainly taking a religious and sacred view of death. But if a human being looks upon death as a law of nature and then feels afraid of it, his attitude is of cowardice. However, even in religious meditations about death there is sometimes a mixture of folly and superstition. Monks have written books in which they have described the painful experiences which they underwent by inflicting physical tortures upon themselves as a form of self-purification. Thus, one may think that the pains of death must be indescribably agonizing. Such books and such thoughts increase a man's fear of death.

Seneca, the Roman Philosopher is of the view that the circumstances and ceremonies of death frighten people more than death itself would do. A dying man is heard uttering groans; his body is seen undergoing convulsions; his face appears to be absolutely bloodless and pale; at his death his friends begin to weep and his relations put on mourning clothes; various rituals are performed. All such facts make death appear more horrible than it would be otherwise.

Questions:

1. What is the difference between human beings' fear of death and children's fear of darkness?
2. What is a religious and sacred view of death?
3. What are the painful experiences described by the Monks in their books?
4. What are the views of Seneca about death?
5. What are the facts that make death appear more horrible than it would be otherwise?

Q. No 1

Both, the human beings and children feel afraid, one is from death and others from darkness. But both have a little difference. As the fear of human beings is increased by the stories, which they heard about the agony of dying men, on the other hand, children's fear is increased by the stories of heard ghosts and thieves.

Q. No 2

As human being regard death as a kind of punishment of his sins he has committed and he looks upon death as a means of making an entry into another world. This is known to be religious and sacred view of death.

Q. No. 3

Monks have described very painful experiences, which they underwent by inflicting physical tortures upon themselves as a form of self purification.

Q. No. 4

According to the Seneca's views, the circumstances and ceremonies of death frighten people more than death itself would do.

Q. No 5

These are some facts like: a dying man is heard uttering groans; his body is undergoing convulsions; his face appears to be absolutely bloodless and pale; at his death his friends begin to weep and his relations put on mourning clothes and various rituals are performed. All such Jantots/Jant's make death appear more horrible than it would be otherwise