

Parents ; A gift from God

Parents are a gift from God. Their role is of utmost importance in a child's upbringing. Educated parents are the prerequisite to raise respectful, obedient, and moral individuals. Education, imparted by the parents, leads to the success and prosperity of the child. Good parents nurture patriotic, dutiful, and passionate children. Considering that parents have devoted their entire life to children, they in return should be respectful and care for their parents in their old age. Nurse them back to health if they get ill and perform their rites if they die. To conclude, parents are irreplaceable.

Word count : 96