

Abdul-Rehman

RW-ob-37

26954

Title:

Parents Life From Cradle To Grave

Parents are the guides for their children in upbringing. The author indicates that for better development, the parents are bound to teach their child good manners, discipline and make the child obedient. When the parents get weak, it is the duty of their children's to keep their parents in good health until their demise. Because the parents love is irreplaceable.