

The history is brimful of people who began their life in extremely difficult circumstances. But they went ahead and got included in the successful and renowned people of the world. Success, dignity and fame are never easily presented to one. Only wealth can be effortlessly offered to you. This requires an essential condition: one's ancestors should have property, only then one can get wealth. One can buy worldly possessions with money, but not happiness. Sometimes it takes decades to earn dignity. To earn disgrace or become controversial, a moment is enough.