Q NO-5

(A)

ANSWER

One day, walking together up a hill, I said to Friday, "Do you not wish to be in your own country again?" "Yes", he said "I miss it". "What would you do there if you ever go back?" said I, "Would you turn wild and eat men's flesh again?" He looked full of concern and while shaking his head said, "NO!". I was glad to hear this as we gradually kept climbing towards the top.

ANSWER

Just as we came in sight of the valley Jamil met us and said that the valley was all very fine. He asked whether we knew that there was nothing to eat. We argued that we could eat anything here. He replied that the brown bread was two months old, and there was nothing else but potatoes. We said that there must be milk anyhow. Jamil supposed that there was milk.

Q NO. 7ANSWER

Often it is said about some books that they have changed the world towards goodness. These books are selected as so by the people of literary acumen as per the contemporary affairs and their choices. Contrarily, there are other books which are responsible for the decline by putting the world on the path of deviation. The books being published in any society can be easily assessed on the point that whether they are going to change the world or ~~entangle~~ ~~it~~ into entangle it into some irrational ways. If we examine the books published in Pakistan on the same viewpoint, we come to know that these books are negatively influencing the minds of people through religious prejudice, sectarian sentiments, and excessive national pride. This ~~mentality~~ manifestation of this mentality, today, is visible across the Pakistani society.

Q NO-3

ANSWERS

(1)

Claus Schenk von Stauffenberg was a colonel in the German army, who conspired with his superior, General Fromm to kill Hitler by placing a bomb next to Hitler. He was shot dead at the spot after the blast failed to kill Hitler.

The movie 'Valkyrie' was only successful in representing the facts but it failed to showcase the true picture of the personality and struggle of Stauffenberg. It remained void of the background of Stauffenberg and the philosophy he held due to which he took the extreme step of killing Hitler. Even Hitler himself believed Stauffenberg identical to some German hero. But the film remained unsuccessful in depicting this side of his personality.

(3)

In the opinion of the writer, the plot by Stauffenberg to kill Hitler was justified. The reason is that, according to the writer, Stauffenberg was cognizant of the fact that his plan could fail as well. But he considered it inevitable to show the world that not all the Germans conform with the regressive policies of Hitler.

(4)

The outcome of the war would have been different, if Stauffenberg had survived it. He was against the ideology of Hitler, though

① ②
siding with him in compulsion. The cards were turning against Hitler in the war.

If he had survived the war, he could have lead the country after Hitler's fall.

Consequently, due to his anti-Hitler standpoint, he could have saved the of German nation from the severe war-penalties imposed by the allied powers.
