Q # 05:

A. One day, walking together up a hill, I said to Friday, "do you not wish to be in your own country again?" "yes!", he said, "I miss it", "what would you do there if you ever go back?" said I, "would you turn wild and eat men's flesh again?" he looked full of concern and while shaking his head said, "NO!", I was glad to hear this as we gradually kept climbing the top.

B. She said it in my face.

Today Pakistani society has become a representative of this mentality.

Q 2 = Title: Art and bussiness

The journey of art from the hands of ~~business~~ artists to bussinessmen was very short and it did not take them very long to trade art like commodities. During 1980s, Japanese bussinessmen started to invest in western art pieces as the country's share prices rised more than double. As a result, these art pieces started to vanish from public eye, erasing public at large. Nevertheless, the devolution of great art will continue as the ownership can only be obtained by paying market value and not many people in the world have the capacity of ownership. However, art surely has ensured the circulation of once stationary wealth.
