

05-06-2023

Test

Answer: 1

There is a difference between both fears. The fear from darkness of children is related to the stories of ghosts and unrealistic characters. On the other hand, the fear of death in human being is all about the physical pain and discomfort ~~through~~ which a dying person experience.

Answer: 2

A religious view of death is that, the person has to be answerable for all his deeds and the dying person shall be held accountable for his sins after his death. He shall be punished for all the wrongs which he has done in his lifetime.

Answer: 3

The monks project painful experience which they face while performing rituals for purification of their soul. They project horrible occurrence of physical torture ~~was~~ upon them. This makes the death more horrifying.

Answer: 4

Seneca's is of the view that death itself is not horrendous but the rituals perform in funeral make it more dreadful i.e. wrapping the dead body into whitecloths, the screaming of loved one, and the gathering of all people around the dead body.

Answer: 5

The facts which make death difficult is the occurrence of certain things with the dead body. i.e. Shivering of dying man, the ~~stopped~~ stoppage of flow of blood, turning the motionless body, ~~conversion~~ of body into pale colour. The loud crying of relatives. Moreover, the wrapping of dead body into whiteclothes.