

Parents are blessings and play crucial role in the better development of their children. For an efficient growth education is important. The qualified parents makes children, responsible, attentive, loyal and a dynamic personality. Since they have spent all of their time, money and attention on their children ; therefore, it is duty of children, they should be obedient and when parents are aged, should help them. If parents suffer from an illness, should consult with doctor. If they die, should arrange funeral. In short, no one can substitute the parents.