

Educated Parents Role and Children Responsibility

Educated parents play more important role in their children lives. They put all their possible efforts for their children education and personality development. The educated <sup>the</sup> parents teach their children all knowledge they have. As a result, Children become successful in their lives. In addition to education, The educated parents inculcate good personality traits which helps them in all walks of life. As Parents give their best to grow their children, now it's responsibility of children to assist their parents. In sum, Parents play crucial role in the development of their children, so children should look after them as well.

( 93 words )