1. Introduction:

"Young people should be at the forefront of global change and innovation. Empowered, they can be key agents for development and peace. If, however, they are left on society's margins, all of us will be impoverished. Let us ensure that all young people have every opportunity to participate fully in the lives of their societies."

By: Kofi Annan.

In Pakistan, a country with a population of over 200 million people, there is a great population of youth and many of them are well-educated. According to the United Nations, Pakistan has one of the largest youth populations in the world, with over 64 million people aged 15-29. This number of young people is also highly educated, with a literacy rate of around 60% and an increasing number of graduates from universities and colleges. However, despite this potential, the majority of educated youth of Pakistan are facing a serious issue of unemployment, underemployment and neglect. One of the key reasons of neglect of educated youth in Pakistan is lack of job opportunities, which is directly or indirectly the result of lack of investment in education.

Moreover, ~~mis~~ mismatch between education and job needs, gender discrimination and Poor governance and corruption are also some of the reasons that contribute in the neglect of educated youth of in Pakistan. This all result in the high unemployment rates, brain drain and social unrest and instability. This pressing issue can be overcome by creating more job opportunities, investing more in education, creating relevance in education, addressing the issue of gender discrimination, improving governance and reducing ~~poor~~ corruption from country. The neglect of utilization of educated youth in Pakistan is a burning issue that has serious consequences for both individuals and society as a whole. By not providing enough opportunities for educated youths Pakistan is losing a golden chance that could help in growth and development.

One of the main challenges that the educated youth in Pakistan is facing is lack of job opportunities. Despite having a large and growing youth population, the country is unable to provide enough jobs. This has resulted in high levels of unemployment and neglect particularly among young people.

Another major challenge faced by educated youth in Pakistan is the lack of investment in education. Despite having a large and growing youth population, the country's education system is inadequate and underfunded. Many schools lack basic facilities and resources. Teachers are often poorly trained and underpaid. This has resulted in low levels of literacy, which limits their ability to get higher education and well-paying jobs.

One of the main challenges faced by ~~you~~ educated youth is the mismatch between education and job needs.

The degrees in which students or youngs graduate either it does not provide enough <sup>job</sup> vacancies or it does not have scope. Resultantly, great number of graduated students are unemployed.

In conclusion, many youngsters are facing the issue of unemployment and neglect. In order to overcome this problem, there should be improved governance. There is a great need of investing in education and creating more job opportunities.
