We keep judging people throughout our lives. We look for friends but we find enemies ~~step by step~~. You have to find friends. Enemies are available. Then the same question arose on the screen of mind; who is the enemy? There are hundreds of people in everyone's life. We have to spend our life with them. We cannot live alone. Family, relatives, neighbors, colleagues, friends and many others remain whom? a part of our lives. We don't understand but we still can't stay away from them. Sometime, it's just compulsion or necessity to keep in touch with them.
