Q. 7.

About some books, there is a saying that they have changed the world. These books selection are done by the intellectuals according to their choice and circumstances, but where few books have changed the world these are some books which made the world backward by throwing it on the wrong path. From the publications of the books in any society it can be estimated that either these books are going to change the world or they are going to keep the society ban in the chains of old traditions. According to this point of view if we look towards the publication of books in Pakistan then we have to know that these books are affecting the minds of the people with the sentiments of religious hatred, communal distinction and useless nationalism. This mentality can be seen in today's Pakistani society.
