Throughout life, we are testing people.

We are searching for friends but we are facing enemies at every step. Friends have to be found. Enemies are ready-made available. Again the question that comes to the surface of mind is that who is the enemy? There are some ^{scores} twenties or hundreds of people in every human life. Life is to spend with all of them. We cannot live separately in isolation. ^{family members} Wife, relatives, neighbours, dwellers, peers, friends and lots of other people are becoming part of our life. This is a lifetime process. Lots of people cannot be understood but still we cannot leave them. Sometimes, relation is to keep for sake of necessitation or negotiation.

Solution:

We tend to test people throughout our lives. Our quest for companionship persists, yet adversaries/ enemy continue to cross our paths. The pursuit of friendship becomes imperative, while foes seem to be readily available. Thus, the same query arises in our minds: who, indeed, is the ultimate adversary? In the life of every individual, there exist scores or hundreds of people. To coexist with all of them becomes incumbent. We cannot live alone. Family members, relatives, neighbors, acquaintances, colleagues, confidants, and various others continue to become part of our lives. It is an enduring affair, wherein numerous individuals are unable to comprehend it, yet we cannot ignore it. At times, upholding relationships becomes an inevitable obligation dictated either by circumstances or personal gain.
