Parents are the gifts of God, as they play a significant role in the growth of a child. Educated parents inculcate good values in their children.

They make their children responsible and faithful. The credit of child's achievements goes to parents because they invest their time and resources in the upbringing of their children.

So, it is the responsibility of children to take good care of parents when they are in old age. Moreover, they should arrange a proper burial on the demise of parents. Hence, there is no replacement of parents and their love.
