

Precis should have only one paragraph.

Parents: A child's first school.

Parents are God's given gift. Both of the parents have an equal role in bringing up the child. To do so, following are the characteristics both the parents should have:

The first is education. Educated parents bring up educated children. ^{This} is why a child's success and ^{achievements} are credited to its parents teaching.

Therefore, qualified parents attribute such qualities in their children, that would lead them to a successful life. Since parents devote their lives and money for their children, it is later the children's Suggested titles: Educated Parents: a catalyst for bright future responsibility to be there for their parents in their time of need.

Ideas ^{Nonetheless,}

~~None the less,~~ no one can replace a parent in any way.

a- Significance of educated parents

b- Lead to responsible, patriotic and skilful youth:

c- Later, children give credit to their educated parents for their success

d- Lastly, the writer has mentioned children duties towards their old parents; from catering their needs to performing their death rituals wholeheartedly.

(Words = 109)

Mistakes identified.