~~We assess~~ people throughout our ⁴ lives.
We keep looking for friends but ¹¹⁰ eventually find enemies. Friends need to be searched, whereas enemies can be easily looked for. Then a question arises over mind that who is the enemy. Every one knows a lot of people in their lives, with whom they have to spend their time with. We can not live all alone. Family, relatives, neighbours, people of society, colleagues, friends and many other remain part of our lives. This remains is the matter of our whole life. Many people are difficult to be understood on one hand but still we can not part our ways with them. We need to adhere to the relation

Solution:
We tend to test people throughout our lives. Our quest for companionship persists, yet adversaries, enemy continue to cross our paths. The pursuit of friendship becomes imperative, while foes seem to be readily available. Thus, the same query arises in our minds: who, indeed, is the ultimate adversary? In the life of every individual, there exist scores or hundreds of people. To coexist with all of them becomes incumbent. We cannot live alone. Family members, relatives, neighbors, acquaintances, colleagues, confidants, and various others continue to become part of our lives. It is an enduring affair, wherein numerous individuals are unable to comprehend it, yet we cannot ignore it. At times, upholding relationships becomes an inevitable obligation dictated either by circumstances or personal gain.
