The history is full of those people who started their lives through ~~thick~~ and thin. But ~~hereafter~~, afterwards, whether they became successful or in the figures of well-known personalities. Success, dignity and fame are not a piece of cake, only wealth ~~could be~~ ^{can} a piece of cake to you. But for that, it is important/necessary for your ancestors to have some assets. History is replete with such successful people who began their lives in extremely difficult situations, but with time, they became successful and famous personalities. Success, respect, and fame ~~cannot~~ ^{cannot} come to you on a platter; only wealth can be bestowed upon you if you have ancestral property. For this, it is also imperative that your forefathers have left you with some property, only then you can gain wealth. With wealth, you can buy worldly possessions, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, it takes many years for a person to earn respect or fame, and it takes only a moment to lose it by becoming involved in a dispute or by
