TRANSLATION

History is filled with such people who faced extreme difficulties in their early lives but moving forward their names were included with successful and famous people. Success, respect and popularity cannot be served in a plate rather only wealth can be served in a plate and for this there is a compulsory condition that your family ancestors must have possessions, only then you will be given wealth. You can buy earthly possessions from affluence but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes it takes decades for humans to earn respect but to earn disrespect and become controversial only needs a moment to happen.

History is replete with such successful people who began their lives in extremely difficult situations, but with time, they became successful and famous personalities. Success, respect, and fame cannot come to you on a platter; only wealth can be bestowed upon you if you have ancestral property. For this, it is also imperative that your forefathers have left you with some property, only then you can gain wealth. With wealth, you can buy worldly possessions, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, it takes many years for a person to earn respect or fame, and it takes only a moment to lose it by becoming involved in a dispute or by committing a shameful act.
