History is full of such people who had ~~str~~ picked off their lives from very difficult conditions; but later, they became ~~best of~~ successful and renowned personalities of the world. Success, respect and reputation are not served up on a plate; just wealth is easily achieved that is conditional too as you <sup>must</sup> inherit wealth from your <sup>predecessors</sup> pre-decessors. Through wealth, you can buy material pleasure, but you cannot buy happiness. It takes, some time, decades to earn respect, but disrespect and humiliation <sup>take</sup> takes no time.
