Test - 3

Throughout ~~life~~ our life, we assess people. We are in constant search of friends, however, we find enemies at every step of the way. Friends have to be found. Whereas, enemies are readily available.

Yet again, the question remains same that who is our enemy actually.

In every person's life, there are ~~at least~~ around ten to thousands of people. They have to live their life among all of them. We cannot live <sup>in</sup> isolation.

neighbours, Family, relatives, neighbors, community members, colleagues, loved ones and many other people remain a part of our lives. It is a matter of a life time.

There are many people who we do not understand but we cannot abandon them from our lives. Often
