

Q.1:

The main difference is all about what they heard about death and darkness. The kid's fear of darkness is due to stories of ghost and thieves; And human beings fear of death is due to stories heard about pain of dying man.

Q.2:

According to religious <sup>view</sup>, death is a mean of making an entry into another world. It is a kind of punishment of a person for his sins, he has committed during his lifetime.

Q.3:

Monks have written <sup>books</sup> books in which they described their painful experience, that they used to <sup>penalize</sup> penalize themselves. They used physical tortures as a form of self-purification. Painful suffering was the way for them to experience agony of death.

Q.4:

According to Seneca, death itself is not such frightening for human beings. These are the sufferings of a dying man, and rituals performed after his death, which are more frightening.

Q.5:

A dying man's groans, convulsions of body, bloodless and pale face, and weeping of his friends and relatives wearing mourning clothes are some dreadful facts that make death appear more horrible than it would be otherwise.

Use your own vocabulary as much as possible, without borrowing phrases from the original passage.