All our life, we assess people. We keep looking for friends but find enemies at every step. Friends have to be found. Enemies are <sup>available</sup> ready made. Again that question is <sup>keeps on appearing</sup> appearing in mind that who is the enemy. Every human has hundreds of people in <sup>his</sup> their life. One has to spend life with all of them. We cannot live alone. Family, relatives, neighbours, local <sup>acquaintance</sup> people, acquaintance, friends, and many other people are part of our life. It is the matter of whole life. We <sup>cannot</sup> can't understand many people but still cannot leave them. Sometimes due to compulsion or expediency we have to keep the relationship.

Avoid using informal words, such as doesn't, can't etc.
