The history is full of ^{people} peoples, for whom life was not ~~not~~ ^{bed} of roses at early stages, but they came up as the most renowned and ^{successful} ones. As everyone is not lucky enough to earn success, fame and dignity for free, but only wealth can be ^{gained} gain if that can be inherited from the wealthy ^{ancestors} ancestors. Money cannot buy happiness, but it can only ^{buy} buy worldly things. Sometimes it takes decades to earn due respect but ^{sometimes,} sometime this dignity takes mini second to be vanished.

History is replete with such successful people who began their lives in extremely difficult situations, but with time, they became successful and famous personalities. Success, respect, and fame cannot come to you on a platter; only wealth can be bestowed upon you if you have ancestral property. For this, it is also imperative that your forefathers have left you with some property, only then you can gain wealth. With wealth, you can buy worldly possessions, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, it takes many years for a person to earn respect or fame, and it takes only a moment to lose it by becoming involved in a dispute or by committing a shameful act.
