Self Satisfaction: A way to a content life.

Every educated and sensible man knows that money can never be its top priority, ~~but~~ but rather the services it provides. Though money is an essential part of life, the way it is attained is even more important. Such as a dedicated soldier would focus on fighting more battles, a doctor focused on saving lives and a clergyman passionately preaching rather than making money. Likewise all other professionals prioritizing their job over money, which is of course crucial but secondary.
