

Title: The Aim of Intelligent Man

The Intelligent man's thought not only revolves around but other things as well. The clear minded persons who make money successfully like the feeling of earning it more. However, in case of soldier who is happy with his pay and aims for a good fight, if not given his salary can also complain in return. But there are bishops and doctors, who charge for ablution and treatment of patients. Doctors and bishops if they are sane enough, they should think that money is not everything in life. In the end work comes first, the pay ~~the~~ second.
