Title : Money As a Second Preference

For an intelligent and educated person, to make money, the basic object of life is totally impossible. As like a healthy person use food as (their) his basic necessity. To earn money should be one's aim and likeliness rather than money. Likewise, a soldier is not concerned with his earning, he only loves victory. Also like a true religious leader which only likes to preach. As of doctors, which are sincere to their profession love to cure their patients. Money is really important but it should be the second preference of any true man.
