7) Conclusion :-

A famous say is "A home without books is a body without soul." is the best defined one emphasising the importance of books and their role in shaping up the importance of book reading. A book reading is considered as intellectual and healthy activity around the world. But in our society it is considered as ~~worst~~, the main reasons are numerous state affairs, but most important are poverty due everyone cannot access to books due the their cost and second one is old teaching method. Our teacher and student are dependent on rote system even if a student read the topic from that book he will get a passing marks in the examination, if student prepare a topic from other books rather than suggested by teacher, donot even consider it to check it because teachers are also not well aware and trained with new method of technology. They are moving not moving to new books and research based teaching method. Therefore, students also donot interested to buy new books to read and they are not of reading.

In the early days or more precise, 70 or 80 years back when reading books is considered as one of basic requirement like eating food or drinking water when these sources were limited. Those who are unable to buy books, they can afford it from nearest library on weekly, daily or monthly basis. Teachers are not blamed only even parents are not encouraging their children to read books of context and get highest marks in examination to get admission in professional college. In the past, there were widespread libraries where someone is considered as wise when he reads most of books, he was considered as respected. If we remember in the past, all elite class was scholars, philosophers and historians. In the past, he was considered as most valuable and respectable who has more books in the home and he reads the collection of books. Mr. Zulfikar Ali Bhutto himself encourages the printers to the prints the books at cheaper cost so everyone can access and read the books even students after school were encourage to read these books.

The reason we are far away from the book is that is our generation is leaving his life under poverty line. Books are cost effective and no everyone has enough sources of income to buy books so they prefer to use of technology upon books. So, we are getting far away from book and near to short access to books and magazines available on internet free of cost. Books in PDF (soft form) just a click away from everyone, so everyone can access these books easily on pressing a keyboard. The second reasons are old and untrained teaching method in schools or colleges, students will get a passing marks in examination, if he/she will copy the exact lines from the teacher suggested book, if he writes a topic other than that books he will not even pass the examination. As now in this digital era, every young and children has a mobile phone, so he can search the topic of interest on internet in just a click without paying any thing of cost. Most of syllabus in our teaching centers are outdated, there are old methodology of teaching, so student can not get the acquired knowledge according to the needs of modern era. We have to compete the world so we have to study on research based articles instead of old methodology of technology.

Our student and children should taught the same syllabus as it is teaching in world wide research base articles and topic. we should follow the trend as world is progressed and we are still behind them to get education. Keeping in view that point we have throw away our books but we should follow authorize and authentication books or articles to get the knowledge and get in touch with books. The reason we are away from books are distraction. We uses mobile phones during study is worst form of book reading. Students get distracted while studying or focus on reading the worthy content. Students get distracted while using mobile or reading something on internet as they use social media and chatting app as well during study on internet so they can't concentrate on study:

As our books are not modernized according to need of era. we are living in the era of digitalization where it is need to complete the world in this field of digitalization. we have mobile phone, anyone can access the world on a single click without paying any effort. Students of school can get access to any articles of foreign authors just on a single click without paying something or get worthy knowledge from updated article as it is need of the world to get knowledge in your field and serve the world. As there is no practical experience in book so you can perform things practically and perform these as per you need.

Student or anyone who is eager to learn something can access free magazines and books on internet. As we are living in the era of modern world where there is digitalization in every field of life. every young or man has access to mobile phones. So anyone can get access to research based topic without any hesitation. we are living in the era where everything is possible through internet. Student should read the worth and healthy content from internet using authorized reference. As there are advantage of using mobile phone instead of reading books but there are some problem too if a student get access to wrong content it will be harmful for anyone to not use of authorize or authenticated reference. Kids who don't read probably have not experienced the joy of getting lost in the magic of a story or learning something new about a favourite topic. Some topic may feel a lot of work for no particular reason. So yes, it's totally ok to not love reading books or magazines. It does not mean you're stupid and it certainly doesn't mean you are a bad person.

Now, you might still have to read for school or to pass Test. Studies with both adults and children are beginning to show us that reason we sometime feel like we have stepped into the shoes of a story character is because our minds really do pretend that we are actually participating in the story.

Knowledge on the internet is research based on use of modern technology and using modern methodology. Student or reader can get benefit from the technology and get access to any content that is worthyful on the internet. Research based article can't enhance the knowledge of knowledge of student and they can also rely on research based and worthy content. It will be benefitted for him too and by use of this knowledge he can make his country or institution progress.

As poverty in the country is increasing day-by-day so student who are unable to afford the book can't buy books due to their cost. So he can easily access to the books on internet. It is the era of internet we should encourage everyone the positive use of internet. We should encourage the positive role of technology so everyone should get awareness of these and should use the positively internet.
