

Service Matters Over Paying For Professionalism

A genuine professionalist does not care about remuneration.

His always top priority is the good result of his service. Every one likes money which is good but the real professionalist do not make the object of their lives.

They find happiness in their success. For example:- A soldier's only desire for win the battles, similarly, clergy men's whole purpose is to preach people and the doctors who despite fixing fee, ~~their~~ ^{his} main object is to cure his patient^s. Therefore, A sincere professionalist always prefer work to fee.
