Question # 1

(d) Empowerment ..... society.

Knowledge has always been a key to empowerment, but mere knowledge or just its theoretical perception gets irrelevant when seen in the contemporary world.

Knowledge which is not put in practice cannot be manifested upon the humanity, so it cannot be used for the betterment of the society. It can only be useful when transformed into some skill. ~~etc~~

For example, engineering wonders like Burj-e-Khalifa ~~etc~~ is a result of materializing theoretic concepts of mathematical knowledge. A doctor operates by surgical procedure because of his skills and not merely knowledge, and achieves perfection by practicing to polish his skills.

Another importance of skills is the dynamic nature of society, which is changing from philosophical subjects to IT-related.

As per PBS, 65% of the population in Pakistan is youth (aged 15 to 35 years (2017 census). The picture is grim when we dwell in details and find that about 22 million children aged 5 to 16 years are lying out of school. Not everybody is born to become a doctor, but almost everybody is born to have a livelihood. Without skills, this youth is prone to fall prey to the criminals. By imparting skills, preferable IT skills, we can reduce our current account deficit by earning foreign exchange and other technical skills can result into foreign remittances. Apart from it, a skilled nation is valued in the society world. According to Prophet (PBUH), the best earning is the one which one earns from his own hands. Hence, knowledge is all these written in the books but it is crucial for the education and the society to transform it into some skill. In this way, we can raise the status of our nation and can ~~raise~~ lift the financial dangers looming ahead, which are a dire need of time.

Question # 8

Title: "Purpose of Education and its Realm."

Précis:

According to the author, the purpose of education is first to train the ~~youth~~ faculties of the young and then to provide the experience of human race, i.e., knowledge. Knowledge can be either of intellect, which can be affirmed or denied, or it can be of feelings, which can be felt and known. The former is the matter of science while the latter is matter of art, which is subjective. So, education is first to inculcate observation in youth young and then to "grasp" the "subjective" aspect as science, art, or both.
