

Title: Duties over Riches

For an intellectual person money can't become chief purpose of his life. Healthy people like their dinner without making it main object of their lives. Sound minded people prefer winning over money. A good soldier mainly focus on victory in a fight rather on his pay. Doctors like fee but if they are courageous enough their job purpose is not fee but to cure the sick. Along all the brave men their work is prime and their fee is secondary.

(word: 80)