Title: Money is a byproduct of one's hard work Date: 15/5/23

It is impossible for a well-educated intellectual, or brave man to make money his primary goal just as make the dinner his main object. Every healthy person likes his meal but it is not chief object his life. Each healthy minded person likes making money just as the sensation of ~~the~~ triumph because it is better than money. A soldier wishes to fight and glad to be paid but he complain when is not being paid for a decade. His mission is to fight in the battle, not the sake of winning it. The clergyman's main object is to preach & baptize but not the other way around. The doctors like to be paid but they wish to cure the patient. Doctors desire to cure the patient for free ~~not~~ but ~~to~~ not the other way around. For the all men who are morally upright then their first mott is work then fees is second. Indeed, money is important but it remain second for them.
