Titles Purpose of Intellectual Man.

- It is impossible for intellectual man to think about money as main object just like to make dinner.

But dinner is not main object of their lives. Healthy minded people enjoy earning more than money.

A good soldier aims at winning the battles, not to get paid for winning them. A clergyman mission is not to get paid money for what he preaches. A chief object of doctor is to cure the patient. and if the choice is fair, they treat their patient free than to kill him. But for intellectual men their work comes first than fee at second.
