Title of Precise : Relationship Between Working and Earning .

Money making is not the chief objective of well-educated man. In fact, money is important but work comes first. Different professionals have different objectives ⁱⁿ of life. For example, healthy people are more conscious of their diet than eating; a good soldier wishes to be a good fighter than well paid; the objective of clergymen is to preach not earn all time; Doctor earns money but his main goal is to cure patients. Hence, for all brave and trained men, work is more important than just earning a money.
