Conclusion

Man born free but is in chain everywhere. This statement explain that man born independently but face many issues in society. Traditional families is facing many challenges in modern age. In ancient era, there were no limitations on men they enjoyed their lives free and without any threat. As the industrialization and modernization era introduced, certain instructions are applied on men which made men limited in every field. State controlled system resources limitations, industrialization and environmental issues have controlled men and snatch the peace of men. modern era have produced challenges for traditional families. modernization has caused these challenges for traditional families that have stretched the peace, social gathering of families. These challenges can be limited and people can be maintain by programmatic measures.

Governmental controlled system have reduced the degrees of men. Before state concept, people live freely, men enjoyed natural resources honestly, there were no social chaos, self-fish and private property concept. As the state system came, the men became prison and mentally retard. Rousseau says that man was happy in state of nature. He want to come back in state nature where men live free and enjoyed natural resource, but as state system come, it has controlled the men.

Economic issue in modern era is another challenge to families. Peoples have limited resources and more family member that do not fulfill the enormous need of today age. This limited resources system has made men bound. which cause social issues such as crime, corruption, bribery and many more.

Social media system is creating a challenge for traditional families. Technology has reduced the social gathering that was point of love, affection, brotherhood and homeliness. Technology has controlled the men at one place and snatched the sources of affections brotherhood, peace. Social media is cause of cyber crime that has caused chaos in society. cyber crime has created threat to men property and open the secrecy. its effects can be controlled and limited by ensuring technical inventions that can check and balance or usage of social media usage.

Traditional family is facing a big challenge of environmental issue also. Industrialization has damaged atmosphere. men live in
