Social Media: Blessing or Curse

There might be only a few things which have changed human lives so deeply as social media has. Starting from being just a tool of communication, the social media has evolved into such a powerful platform that a whole revolution, 'Arab Spring' is attributed to social media. The scope of social media, however, is not limited a revolution. It has been serving the human beings in various ways. For instance, social media has reimaged the concept of communication. Today, the communication is not limited to voice conversation only. we are doing video calls, live-streaming, sharing content with the partners (or the audience) including images, documents and videos and all sort of digital stuff. Likewise, new horizons of education are opened, activism is taking place, people

Translation

The weak human being, entangled in mistakes, carelessness, evils, sins, delusions and self created problems is afraid of facing his reality. To get rid of himself, he is into various habits and hobbies. He does not have courage to recall his past. If he does so, he only recalls when he was the best, but he do not want to spoil his today recalling the regrets in the backdrop. The man has to be even-tempered as nobody has seen tomorrow. However, someone is looking his today - The miserable today.
