

Title : WORK COMES FIRST & MONEY SECOND

A person with an intellect and courage does not consider money as a sole important element for living. Although, he likes money, but his duty is above everything. As healthy people like dinner, but dinner is not what they are targetting for. Similarly, good soldiers, responsible clergymen and dedicated doctors like money, but their work comes first. Hence, for a professional person his responsibilities are his priorities not money.