If the world does not attract you towards itself, if your eyes get full of tears due to the fear of Allah, if the picture of hell does not terrify^{ies} you, if you worship Allah the way you are supposed to be, if the virtue calls you towards itself and stops you from going towards the path of wrongdoings then you are righteous.

There are some who are righteous, and some who tend to be righteous.

Being righteous is a matter of fortune. Being righteous is an act of continuous purity and struggles. It takes time and makes you go through hardships.
