Comprehension

① We mostly fail in our efforts for self-improvement because we set our goals that are unachievable. Overseeing our ability to do a task, our ambitions are unattainable that cannot be achieved within the prescribed time.

② Our goals are personal and should not be exploited. Everyone in our life will not understand the direction in which we want our life to go in. People usually make fun of something that is not of their interest. It is better to avoid having everyone's mouth on your stuff.

③ The writer was unable to carry out his resolution on New Year's Day as he had planned to get up early and do exercise and the other was to study in the evening. Both failed miserably as he attended the party that caused a delay in his pre-determined plan.
