Attention Grabber is the part of intro. Don't write it separately. Ashley Montague

This quote by Ashley Montague a famous antropoligist signifies the importance of family and family structure within the society. It is fairly clear that the emphasis on family life is a way of adding sustinance to the society. This quote alone is not enough. Sentence structure Imagine a world without family life, where everyone is following a robotic way of life. That world is not far behind. The world is daily changing and the few changes are posing challanges to family life. A modern age will only cause ? death and destruction to the ?

traditional family roles. Traditional family roles are slowly fabricating the being fabricated by the modern way of life. The fabrication is inclusive of gender roles change, an individualistic society and household dynamic. Not only this, but various political, social, economic and psychological factors are also posing a treat to traditional family system. Globalization of world is also posing a level of threat that cannot be avoided.

In order to understand the treal of modern world on traditional family systems, we first need to analyze what traditional family structure is. Traditional family structure in context of Pakistan system can be defined as a structure where gender roles are specific and in line with basis culture and ecology. Moreover, a traditional family may be the one in which there is equal participation by nuclear and extended families for smooth functioning of households. On the other hand, modern families promote the idea of individualism and one man show.

- The sentence is not coherent
- Wrong use of word
- No cohesion between sentences.
- Thesis statement?
- Write in 3rd person
- Why only in context of Pakistan?? The essay is open.
- Crunch paragraph and the heading in outline does not match

The fabric of society is a victim to evils such as inflation, climate change, technology, etc. Under the shadow of all this, dealing with a traditional family is not only scary but also impossible. The changing gender roles within the society is a recent trend that is not only being observed in the West, but also in the East. There is a rise in single parent households as well. In accordance with a report published by family court of Pakistan, more than 40,140 cases have been reported in for family seperation. This leads to the child being brought up by mother alone, with little or no support from the mother. Prominent step towards gender roles change can be accessed by paying attention towards the increasing number of women in the work force. According to a World Bank report 23.27% women of Pakistan were seen working in the country with the projection of 2024 going upto 25% or more.

[Red annotations:]
No cohesion between paragraphs
How does that relate to changing gender roles
That is not related to change is gender roles. That is single parent household
Paragrap is not properly structured

Directly address the argument in the topic sentence

The changing gender roles are making women realize that they do not have to be dependent upon their male counterparts or for provision of their needs and wants. This is causing a turn towards an individualistic society, where everyone is focused only on providing for themselves further threatening the traditional family system. People have started focusing their worth on the basis of their status in society which includes leisure and plans for future. Collectivism is the basis of Pakistani society. The individualism score on the Hofstede Insight for Pakistan is 14, which basically also signifies how an individualistic society might not be any successful in the Pakistani context

Irrelevant to the topic.

Why singular comparison with Pakistani society? The topic is open topic.
