Punctuate :

Robert Whiting, an elderly US gentleman of 83, arrived in Paris by plane at French Customs. He took a few minutes to locate his passport in his carry on. "You have been to France before", Monsieur, the custom officer asked sarcastically. Mr. Whiting admitted that he had been to France previously. "Then you should know enough to have your passport ready." The American said, "The last time I was here; I didn't have to show it." "Impossible! Americans always have to show their passports on arrival in France", sneered the Custom Officer. The American senior gave Frenchman a long, hard look. Then he quietly explained, "Well, when I came ashore at Omaha Beach, at 4:40am, on D-Day in 1944, to help liberate your country, I could not find a single Frenchman to show a passport to..." You could have heard a pin drop.

QNO2

Precis:

Title: 'Qualities of an Eligible Commander'

Precis: An Army general must possess the qualities of being courageous, physically fit and high moral. If a general shows courage and remains calm in difficult times during wars, then he can make people forget the mistakes he makes in battle field. When it comes to the health of the general, then it is just an apparent quality. If he has passionate and young soul then it can govern his weak body. Writer stresses that in history we have examples of sick commanders but they remained victorious on the basis of spirit. When it comes to the age of the commander then on the basis of history it is difficult to determine whether a young commander is more dangerous to his enemies or an old one. History is full with examples of old commanders conquering the battlefields and young commanders also defeating enemies. But if an old commander is able to understand new ideas and ~~be~~ has capacity to ~~to~~ face difficult times then he can overcome the young ones. Writer also praises the decision of reducing the retiring age of generals but also fears of early losing eligible commanders.
