Digitalization of Judicial system will provide justice to Pakistan's people.

Digitalization means to convert data, proceedings and others into online and digital form. Chief Justice of Pakistan Gazi Faez Isa has a great opportunity to rejuvenate our ailing Judicial system and propel into dynamic force. This pivotal can infuse new life and potential into our legal framework ultimately reshaping the nation's economy, politics and society. This comprehensive approach will install hope not only in future of the country but also in the belief in a society governed by government and rule of law and in the prospects of individual life.

By harnessing the power of digital technologies and simultaneously enforcing the right-to-information law that relate to proactive disclosures and wide dissemination of information held by public bodies, the Chief Justice can usher a revolutionary transformation. It is crucial to acknowledge that these two facets of transformation are inextricably linked and interdependent for tangible process.

Online Judiciary can be easily ~~set~~ reach and accessible. It provide a beneficial and easy access where people can attend court file application with going through long orthodox ways of judiciary hearings. Judiciary process are long and line taking and when it comes to dates taking it is another milestone to achieve. So by online and digitalizing this it will be effective and way more convenient. More cases will be filed and covered up in a shorter span of time.

While providing easy access it also help us to save our time. In this era of time "Time is money" there is nothing more important than time by making the judicial system online time saving is also being ensured. Time shortage is faced by everyone so isn't it this much easy when you have all court in your hand and can easily make it when ever needed. It saves travelling time and can be reached by one click and by avoiding long lines and rushy halls Justice will be served more quickly.

Online Judiciary will serve as a time saver but with that it will also be helpful in serving justice and maintaining law and order. By quick justice and law balancing people will be more confident and satisfied by judicial system of country. Islam also emphasizes on the importance of just and fair decisions. Prophet (P.B.U.H) said:

"If my daughter Fatima (R.A) did this theft I will also chop her hands"

Pakistan as being an Islamic country values the saying of last messenger of Allah.

By making this a practice online serving justice will be quicker and can be done easily and as people will already know their some rights while serving justice it will also help in cost/money saving. This will also help the poor to demand for justice. There are many people in country who don't demand justice as because they think it as a long and costly, expensive process. Online Judiciary will save people cost to reach the courts money wasted on documents and pages. It online no issue for documents will be faced due to e-papers and this will cut the cost of used to and is necessary to pay for justice

~~Another~~ Digitalization of Judiciary when have all these benefits it also ensures secrecy of the victim and culprit. It is important for any one to not become a public issue and become someone's discussion of coffee. By onlineing the Judiciary it will ensure that a case remain covered and not come into eyes of people. Many rape and assault court cases do not come forward as people hesitate of the backlash they may face and are afraid of being judged it will help also to those people to come forward and fight for their rights without any hesitation.

Despite all these benefits there are also some challenges which need to be addressed and will be faced by public as well as Judiciary.

Role of media is very important in digitalisation of Judicial system. We live in an era where every thing which is said by any kind of media onlinedigital, paper/print or e-media is thought to be true. In these scenarios taking such a big initiative is not a holiday play it is difficult to convince people and create such a big change. Media when spreads positively also spreads fake and false negative news in these regards media must be a supporter of digitalisation of Judicial system. Online systems are often used wrongly and are treated inappropriately. It is important to give its access only to sensible people. Access of such a platform is to everyone may create a mess due to excessive and unlawful approach of it to local public. People may sign petitions which don't even make sense and can waste the time of Judiciary. When you come from the old centralized way people have some check and balance which is not possible in case of e-Judiciary.

when making everything online if proof evidence witness also be thought of making digital it will lose its credibility as AI is approaching the world day by day and it is far more dangerous As Elon Musk himself in one of his his interview said "Mark my words AI is more dangerous than you all think" It is possible through AI to create false images videos and images. According to some Journalist it is also proclaimed that images on the attack of Imran Khan is also said to be Artificially made by AI. It is told that if AI will keep on getting hype at this pace it will come to every field of life so it might affect the fair and just treatment of judicial system.

~~Effect on Credibility~~

* Credibility of online system may also be questioned that who is ruling the and managing the system. who is actually making decisions. Many people still don't trust the process when it comes to online so many people don't trust online shopping how they will be convinced about the authenticity of Digital Judiciary system.

Not keeping in view these few challenges there are still many more factors that emphasize on the need of online system of Judiciary. It it avoids the useless delays in Justice.

Due to many circumstances Justice is sometimes not served because of delays and people die in ^{Jail} courts before their day of hearing comes. This very influential if we shift to online and can easily serve the Justice in quick and humane time.

Online Judiciary provide means to collect analyze Judicial data. It will help to have a proper check and balance and a record of trials, evidence proves in an easy and accessible forms. It will help to analyze the data more efficiently.

Online Judiciary will be a powerful tool in combating corruption and eliminate it outward of country. Corruption cases like Panama, case of Imran Khan (Pisra) are a view of online developments in world and are possible.

due to digitalization.

It will also be a connecting route of rural and urban areas. Many people of urban area do not go for Justice because of less awareness and less resources. It will ensure that Justice is available for all citizens regardless of their geographical locations. Virtual courts and e-filing systems can be established for individuals of remote areas to participate in legal proceeding without the need of travel expense.

We must draw valuable lessons from leading examples in the realm of digitalization. Estonia for instance, stands out as a role worthy success story in digital transformation. India's e-court projects all are the sign for Pakistan to start looking towards the new era of Judiciary as it will ensure the maximum justice for the people of Pakistan.
